

Do you think English is Important for your career and why?

English is one of the most widely spoken languages in the world. Virtually every individual either speaks or comprehends it to some extent. I would argue that English is a language that everyone should be proficient in. It serves as a universal language, spoken by a vast majority, and possessing a fundamental importance. Consider this scenario: You find yourself working in a different state where English is the sole language you are familiar with. Later, you are sent to France for work, but you struggle to understand the locals. However, because you are proficient in English, you can easily seek assistance and bridge the communication gap. This illustrates the significance of English proficiency, particularly in the professional realm where it often serves as the primary mode of communication. In conclusion, English fluency is essential for effective global communication.
